

- WTBL also provides books for institutions such as hospitals, public and private libraries, nursing homes, day care centers, schools, and other agencies serving individuals who meet the criteria above.

What items are available?

Once approved, patrons will have access to a wide array of materials such as audiobooks and playback materials, braille, large type books, and descriptive DVDs. Patrons can also opt to download their own talking books onto their personal tablet or phone using Braille and Audio Reading Download (BARD). BARD allows patrons to download books with their computers, place the file onto a cartridge and play in their talking book machine. BARD Mobile allows access through smart device. The library also offers magazines in audio, large type, and braille format, and can provide patrons access to newspapers in audio format via NFB-NEWSLINE. Materials are available for all ages and come in a variety of world languages. The library also has a small library of things, loaning out accessibility items such as magnifiers, puzzles and games.

How does it work?

Patrons can use our services in a variety of ways. Materials can be sent in the mail and returned free of postage. Patrons have the option to download items on their personal tablets or smartphones through BARD Mobile. Patrons can also download talking books from their computers and play them on provided machines.

Books can be requested in a variety of ways. Library staff can select items based on your interests. We frequently send out new book lists that you can select from and mail back. You can also call, email, or choose books through our online catalog and your own personal account.
